Microsoft Outlook For Mac 2011 Keeps Re Downloading Deleted Messages

Outlook

Error: Could not synchronize record.

Error: Could not synchronize record.
Details: Operation would change object type, which is not permitted.
Error code: -19703 *

I'm running Outlook 365 on Mac OS 10.9.5

I have been getting this error ever since I deleted a particular recurring even from my calendar. I have tried to enable logging, following these instructions (<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/2872257/en-us>), but no log file is ever created.

Any help, on either issue, would be appreciated.

Thanks

Reasons why you would leave a copy of the message on the server: You have several devices that you use to receive mail.. If you do leave a copy of the message on the server: The messages come into your Network Solutions webmail and when your POP3 program receives a message, it will leave that particular message stored in Webmail for whatever amount of time you have designated.. If you do not leave a copy of the message on the server: Messages come into your Network Solutions® webmail and when your POP3 program receives a message, it sends a command to automatically delete it from our server.
